What Happened to the STS-107 Columbia Crew?

Dr. Nigel Packham

Thursday, January 10, 2013

9:00 am - 10:00 am

Teague Auditorium,
Building 2S

Join us as Dr. Packham presents the Columbia Crew Survival Investigation Report - What happened to the STS-107 Columbia crew and what can be learned from it? Dr. Packham will detail what happened to the Space Shuttle Columbia as it returned from Space in February, 2003.

Dr. Packham is the Associate Director, Technical, of NASA JSC's Mission Assurance Directorate. He also serves as the Manager for the Flight Safety Office. He was the Project Manager for the effort that culminated in the release of the Columbia Crew Survival Investigation Report. The presentation will provide a background of the investigation, the timeline of the accident derived from the evidence, and will discuss key findings that may apply to future spacecraft design.
